THE MIRROR

BALTIMORE COLLEGE OF DENTAL SURGERY

DENTAL SCHOOL, UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

BALTIMORE, MARYLAND

A PUBLICATION OF THE

ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTEENTH STUDENT BODY

WILLIAM A. BRUCE, EDITOR

STANLEY MACKLIN, BUSINESS MANAGER

DEDICATION

Kyrl W. Preis, D. D. S.

Professor of Orthodontics

It is with considerable pleasure that the staff of The Mirror dedicates its book to Doctor Kyrle W. Preis. In our minds, he has been a significant part of the educational process at the Dental School.

A long-existing problem that has confronted the dental schools has to do with the emphasis placed on Orthodontic education in the curriculum. This has been particularly true during the last twenty years, when there has developed a greater effort to give the dental student an adequate education in the biological sciences, such that his clinical studies could be better correlated and more meaningful. Our experiences with Doctor Preis have shown what he has been striving for as Professor of Orthodontics. His lectures and clinics have demonstrated quite clearly his sincere interest in dental education. We have listened as he presented his opinions—and he has listened as we presented ours. Out of it all, the graduate each year takes with him a very competent understanding of principles which are fundamental not only to Orthodontics, but also to the other phases of clinical dentistry.

Doctor Preis' association with the Department of Orthodontics dates to 1930, when he joined the staff as instructor. In 1935 he was appointed Special Lecturer on Dental Occlusion. In 1949, after serving as the Secretary of the State Board of Dental Examiners for four years, he was appointed the Professor of Orthodontics. Doctor Preis is a member of Omicron Kappa Upsilon and Theta Nu Epsilon honorary fraternities, as well as Xi Psi Phi social fraternity.

THE ADMINISTRATION

President of the University

Dr. Thomas Baddeley Symons

On December 16, 1953, Dr. Thomas B. Symons was called out of retirement to become the acting president of the University of Maryland, the appointment becoming effective on January 2, 1954.

Born on a farm at Easton, Maryland, on September 2, 1880, Dr. Symons was graduated from the Maryland Agricultural College in 1902. He received the degree of Master of Science in 1904, and in 1918 an honorary doctorate was conferred upon him by his alma mater.

Dr. Symons' career began soon after his graduation, with his appointment to the position of Entomologist at the College. He rose through the teaching ranks to become Dean of the School of Horticulture in 1912. In 1937 he became the Acting Dean of the College of Agriculture, and two years later he became its Dean.

Governor of Maryland

Theodore R. McKeldin

Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin was born in Baltimore on November 25, 1900. After completing the eighth grade he found it necessary to continue his education in various night schools in the city, while working during the day. Eventually he entered the Law School of the University of Maryland, after receiving his undergraduate degree at Johns Hopkins University by attending night lectures. He established practice after graduation, but within two weeks politics had led him to public office as the Secretary to the Mayor.

Mr. McKeldin became the Mayor of Baltimore in 1943 and held that office until 1947. In 1950, he was elected Governor of Maryland, for a term of four years.

Dean of the School of Dentistry

Dr. Myron S. Aisenberg

In July, 1953, the President of the University, Dr. H. C. Byrd, announced the appointment of Doctor Myron S. Aisenberg as Acting Dean of the School of Dentistry, succeeding Dr. J. Ben Robinson. On February 12, 1954, Doctor Aisenberg was appointed Dean of the School.

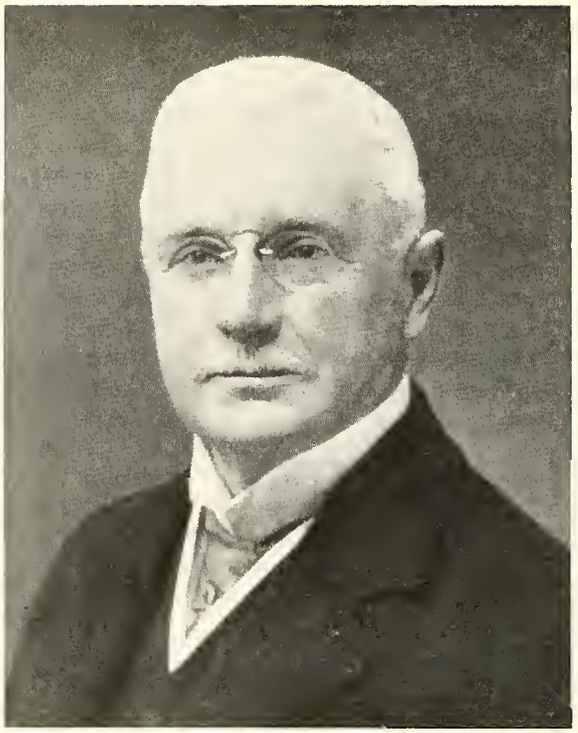
Doctor Aisenberg is an old friend to those associated with the Dental School. Although he was born and reared in Connecticut, Doctor Aisenberg left his native New England to study in the Dental Department of the University of Maryland, from which he graduated with honors in 1922. Since his graduation, he has served as Professor of Histology and Embryology, Bacteriology, and both General and Oral Pathology, and has been an influential member of the Faculty Council since 1940.

Doctor Aisenberg has been an active member of a wide variety of dental organizations. He was President of the Maryland State Dental Association from 1943 to 1944; he has also been an outstanding figure in the Baltimore City Dental Society. He is a past president of the National Chapter of Alpha Omega Fraternity and a member of Gorgas Odontological Society. He was a founding Fellow of the American Academy of Oral Pathologists, of which he is now President-elect, and is a Diplomate of the American Board of Oral Pathology. Other memberships include Omicron Kappa Upsilon, Sigma Xi, American College of Dentists, and the International Association for Dental Research.

National recognition has been achieved by Doctor Aisenberg for his valuable contributions to dental literature. He has presented clinics and papers before all of the national dental organizations and many state and local groups. His research has been primarily devoted to orthodontics, endodontia, periodontia, oral surgery and oral pathology. Doctor Aisenberg comes to his new position with an enviable reputation as an outstanding educator, investigator, clinician and writer. The Class of 1954 wishes him well as the new Dean of the Dental School.

Distinguished Graduates

Newell Sill Jenkins
Class of 1863



(This is the third in a series of articles)

It would have seemed quite natural for Newell Sill Jenkins to look to the sea for a career as he completed his years in the secondary schools of Bangor, Maine. His was a family of shipbuilders, generation after generation, and the American Clipper ships that sailed from Bangor's harbor must certainly have appealed to young Newell. By the time of his high school graduation, however, his mother was begging him to follow a less hazardous occupation. He followed his mother's suggestions and entered the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery; he was graduated in the spring of 1863, with the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery.

The young Doctor Jenkins returned to Bangor to establish a general practice. By the end of the Civil War Jenkins had made a decision to move to the Continent of Europe to spend his years in a climate more suitable to his rather poor health. He eventually chose Dresden as his residence, and he practiced there forty-five years.

Doctor Jenkins' patients included many people whe represented the nobility and royalty of Germany, Russia, Austria and Italy. He, as well as many of his patients, was rather appalled at a vogue which made excessive use of gold as a restorative material in anterior teeth. Consequently, Jenkins became interested in the various porcelain manipulations that were used in the large industries in Dresden. He spent many hours in research in an attempt to adapt these porcelain procedures to operative dentistry. The eventual result of his labors was the introduction to dentistry of a vastly improved material, which he named "porcelain enamel"—a substance which closely resembled our modern porcelain restorative materials. Jenkins became extraordinarily efficient with the manipulation of porcelains, and his "porcelain enamel" inlay technique was perhaps his most notable accomplishment in operative dentistry.

From a geographical point of view, Newell Sill Jenkins carried on one of the most extensive practices known in the history of modern dentistry. For many years he practiced one month each year in Vienna and Warsaw, and was many times consulted on American affairs by the German Imperial Foreign Office. He took exceptional interest in Near East situations and often visited Turkey, Greece and the other Balkan countries, bearing letters of introduction to their rulers.

Though Doctor Jenkins spent most of his productive years in Europe, he did not lose his love for his native country. After his retirement from the practice of dentistry, he spent much time in New Haven, Connecticut, and became an honorary member of several American dental societies. On one occasion, a group of dentists from areas throughout the nation assembled in New Haven to pay tribute to him for his distinguished service to dentistry.

Following the Armistice, Doctor Jenkins again made plans to sail for Europe. On September 18, 1919, he embarked from New York with the intention of spending the winter in Southern France. On the morning of September 25, Newell Jenkins was striken suddenly on board ship in the harbor of Le Havre, France. After seventy-nine years of a rich and full life, Jenkins had died. His body was returned to the United States, and interment was in a small cemetery in his native Bangor.

THE GRADUATING CLASS

Seated: R. Litton (president), M. Volatile (secretary), J. Richmond (vice-president), J. Abbott (treasurer). Standing: F. White (sergeant-at-arms), E. Maxwell (historian).

With graduation day upon us, we look forward to the freedoms of the non-academic world. Such expectations are normal after years of study, but they must not over-shadow the responsibilities which we now face. No professional man ever completes his studies or closes his books; his quest for knowledge never ceases.

The real test of our education will not be our state board examinations, but rather our ability to cope with the unknown problems which we shall all encounter. We must be able to apply and amplify our basic knowledge. Consequently, our thinking cannot be stereotyped or channeled; it must be fresh, liberal and challenging. We must question our old beliefs, and if these beliefs cannot bear the challenge, they must fall.

As we leave school we take serious thoughts with us. If certain of these are critical, then let us express them as an active alumni group. Let us return to our school with a new spirit to better the financial lot of dental educators, establish research fellowships and endowments, and, most important of all, to express an active interest in the education of the future graduates of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery.

The Honorary Class President

Stanley H. Dosh, D.D.S.

Associate Professor of Fixed Partial Prosthesis

He is a member of Omicron Kappa Upsilon Fraternity, Gorgas Odontological Society and Delta Sigma Delta Fraternity.

Doctor Dosh is no stranger to the Senior section of the School yearbooks. He was voted the honorary president by the Class of 1949, and again by the Class of 1953. The Class of 1954 is extremely proud to add its congratulations to those given him in the past.

On Graduation Addresses . . .

At the close of the 1850 session of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, an address to the graduates was given by Doctor Simon P. Hullihen of Wheeling, West Virginia. Doctor Hullihen had received his medical degree in 1835 and had been granted an honorary degree from the Dental School in 1843 as a result of his outstanding contributions to oral surgery. Doctor Hullihen told the young graduates to ". . . carry up, then, the standard of your profession—plant it upon the broad platform of Medical Science—claim for yourselves and for your profession the same respect and importance awarded to other branches of the healing art; and that, too, upon the same ground—the ground of a thorough scientific education."

What could be said to the graduates in 1850 might well be said to the graduates in 1954. Though a vast progress has been made in dentistry, the basic philosophy and ideologies behind its existence remain through the years. Doctor Hullihen closed by saying that: "The period you have so long desired is here . . . Rely upon your own personal efforts, and upon your own mental prowess. Let your shield be your honor—your sword, truth—your watchword, victory—and your conquest, the good of all men; —and your day shall smile with the blessings it has scattered, and its record glow with gratitude from hearts it has cheered and consoled."

THE JUNIOR CLASS

Seated: Stribling (president), Zanner (vice-president), Pate (secretary), Lynch (historian), Brodie (treasurer). Standing: Holen (sergeant-at-arms).

Despite advertising claims of lifetime protection against dental decay, 106 junior students decided to continue their dental education anyway and returned to school in September to begin a more glamourous phase in their course of study—the clinical phase.

Hardly had we stumbled through our first assignments, made a few exposures and inserted a restoration or two when the first trimester was over.

With the first year of clinical application of techniques learned in the laboratories nearly behind us, we now have at our command not only a certain degree of skill for restoring lost dental function but also a deep appreciation for the ability to diagnose the cause of this lost function.

Our limited experience seems to have acted as a stimulus to seek a more thorough knowledge of the various phases of dentistry.

The degree that we shall receive in 1955 implies that we have knowledge other than that involved in restoring mechanically lost portions of the dental apparatus. It will be well to keep this concept in mind.

The Class of '56 has just finished most of its work on its cavity bedecked mannequins and are awaiting the time when we shall be able to practice in the clinic. The laborious cavity preparations and intricate restorations are now part of our working knowledge to be applied practically.

All of us will remember how we worked feverishly over our porcelain and aluminol teeth in crown and bridge laboratory, preparing patterns and then mis-casting them. Also, the time will be well remembered when we were told that patients in the clinic do not have screws in their neck to adjust if the teeth should not occlude properly.

Another of our enlightening courses, which provided us with eloquence as well as entertainment, was our oral and written expression conferences. Here we learned why a certain brand of Kisamore's dog food wouldn't sell—the dogs "didn't like the stuff." Along with these courses we had our first introduction to pathology. Here, our Dean enlightened us both practically and theoretically about diseases and also gave us the reasons for not treating patients in the office for general health disorders—the physician has to make a living also.

However, we are now knocking on the door of our clinical experiences. May we all pass through this door into the future with as few scars and as little pain as possible.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS

Seated: Verdecchia (president), Kalnins (secretary), Butler (vice-president). Standing: Dempsey (treasurer), Dann (historian).

One hundred and ten members of the class of 1957 entered the Dental School just as many others before us had done. We came from all parts of the United States and its possessions and began a new life which at first was fraught with wonderment and confusion. After the welcoming address by Dean Aisenberg, we readied ourselves for our first contact with dental education.

That first month, as one of our members recalls it, was comparable to hurtling full speed into a runaway steam roller. We learned new terms like "gassed," and experienced new emotions like that awesome feeling of shrinking to Lilliputian dimensions when Dr. Vanden Bosche summoned someone to the blackboard during biochemistry lectures. Dissection has known black days since the medieval period, but certainly none worse than those times when five students at a lab table suddenly sensed the presence of a tall, silver-haired gentleman standing next to them, sadly shaking his head.

The year wasn't all work, however, for the Class was quite active in extracurricular activities. We became acquainted with the School of Nursing, Goucher College, and other female abodes and we were well represented at the school dances.

The Class feels proud of its accomplishments, and to the members of the faculty who have guided us, we are profoundly grateful. This year has been an enlightening one and we are looking forward to the remaining three.

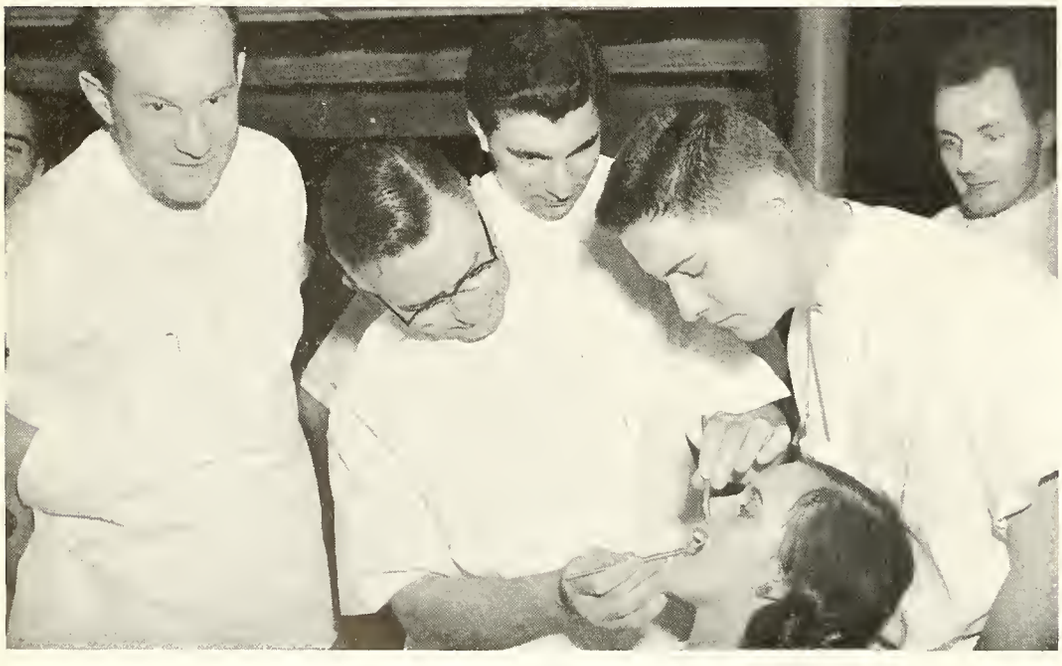
THE CLINICS

DEPARTMENT OF ANESTHESIA

What does it look like from up there, Jack?

Thursday afternoon demonstrations by Doctors Inman and Bushey . . . Almost everyone managed to be in the middle of a foil when the clinic started . . . "Now watch what happens when I give her 95% nitrous oxide." . . . While induction was proceeding, Doctor Inman told jokes.

DEPARTMENT OF FIXED PARTIAL PROSTHESIS



Easy there, Pier; she's not that good-looking.

All-day patients for six-unit anterior bridges were what everyone looked for . . . After five hours spent on a preparation and impression, Nuttall would change everything . . . We could never be sure when Dosh was working on a bridge or the carburetor of his Lincoln.

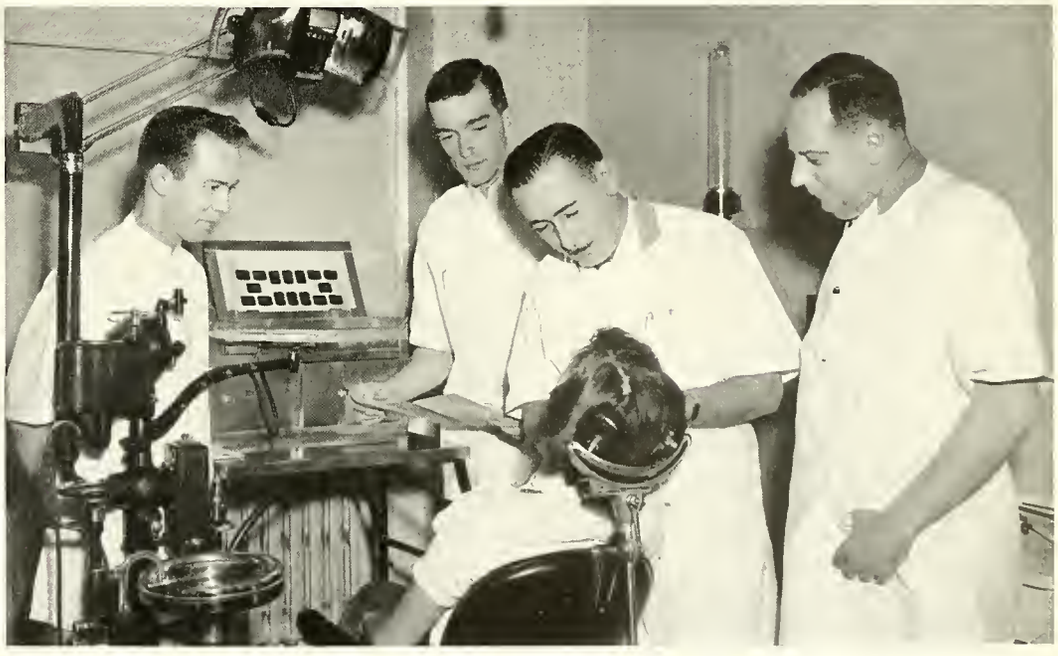
DEPARTMENT OF OPERATIVE DENTISTRY

Two hours on the first prophy, then one hour, then forty minutes . . . "Whadda' ya' mean, put a rubber dam on?" . . . Mysterious cryptics in their little black books . . . "Will the student who has a patient named . . ." . . . "Sure, I want a chair, but you're in Randolph's section!"

"Now bear in mind . . ."

DEPARTMENT OF ORAL DIAGNOSIS

"Diagnosis has a patient for twelve gold foils; please form a double line outside the department." . . . Treatment plans all fouled up after a diagnosis check . . . "When can you come in? Saturday afternoons?" . . . "Let me have him; you've got another year here."



There must be a pretty girl there somewhere.

DEPARTMENT OF ORAL MEDICINE

"Hmmm . . . nine millimeters overextended."

Ten-treatment pathology cases under Dr. Biddington, two-treatment cases under Dr. Eskow . . . Some made their cultures from the molten metal sterilizer, not the canal . . . Reservations on the mimeographed sheets three months in advance . . . "Your teeth are O. K., but your gums will have to be removed."

DEPARTMENT OF ORAL SURGERY

Well, that's one way to take gas.

"You only feel pressure, don't you?" . . . The patient is just about convinced that there's nothing to worry about — then the syringe and forceps are placed in front of him . . .The long, long sterile chain . . . Never knew that teeth could be so brittle.

DEPARTMENT OF ORTHODONTICS

Most ideal teaching atmosphere in the school . . . "Now first, how would you classify this case?" . . . "What could be the possible etiological factors involved here?" . . . "Who would like to explain to the parents that we can't handle this case in the clinic?"

An old cow-milking technique, maybe?

DEPARTMENT OF PEDODONTIA

More adult patients than children in the clinic . . . "Doctor DeVier, is it all right if I bring a child patient in here?" . . . Doctor Coberth explored margins with a mouth mirror . . . Children tied in the chair, with towels over their faces . . . "No, no Junior, put down my water syringe!"

This was just before he threw the mirror down the cuspidor.

DEPARTMENT OF DENTAL PROSTHESIS

"No, no! Place them on the condyle, not in the external meatus!"

After being condemned for missing centric: "But you took it, sir!" . . . Denture adhesives proved to be a good item . . . Wonder who named them "snap" impressions? To a senior carrying away a thimbleful of stone: "Where are you going with all that?" . . . "I'll answer that question when clinic starts."

DEPARTMENT OF ROENTGENOLOGY

"O course, this sort of thing only works on square-heads."

"Oh no, no Doctor, not that way!" . . . The darkroom was a good place to sleep during Junior assignments . . . "This is no good; you only have ⅜'s of the cuspid on the film!" . . . The department is just one big happy family . . . Someone should have sued Dr. Dabrowski for assault and battery.

THE ACTIVITIES

THE STUDENT SENATE

The Student Senate, established in March, 1952 to replace the Student Activity Committee, is fulfilling a long-felt need for adequate student representation in the conduction of student affairs and for the improvement of student-faculty understanding. Previously, the Student Activity Committee, composed of four students and five faculty members, served as the student government of the school. Realizing that this committee was limited in its scope, Mr. Gardner Foley, Dr. Marion McCrea, and Dr. J. Ben Robinson worked tirelessly to promote the establishment of a more active government in which the entire student body could take a vital role. The organization of the present Student Senate was the culmination of their efforts.

The original Senate, as established in March of 1952, consisted of the president, vice-president, and secretary of each class. This group, with the guidance of Dr. McCrea, Mr. Foley, and Dr. Robinson, wrote the constitution and by-laws for the new Senate which were subsequently approved by the Faculty Council and a vote of each class. The current Student Senate is composed of the president and one representative from each section of the four classes.

The Senate has proved to be an efficient and democratic approach to the problem of handling student affairs to the satisfaction of students and faculty alike. From its history thus far we may anticipate a successful and ever more important influence for the Student Senate in the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery.

The yearbook of the one hundred and fifteenth student body . . . Many months of trying to make deadlines, keep up with clinical requirements, and avoid threats from Mr. Foley . . . Greatest single problem was keeping Tesher from showing up in every picture . . . After doing the Senior section, T. J. has been trying to talk his way out of slander charges . . . Hellerman always managed to be out of film when the pictures needed to be taken . . . But somehow, the book made it to the printer, and the work is done.

During each school year invitations for membership in the Gorgas Odontological Society are given to those Juniors in the first thirty percent of their class. This Society was formed in 1916, and was named in honor of Doctor Ferdinand J. S. Gorgas. Doctor Gorgas, who received both the D.D.S. and M.D. degrees from the University of Maryland, devoted many years of his life to dental education.

The Society holds monthly meetings. These are highlighted by talks presented by prominent dentists and physicians of Baltimore. Their topics are primarily ones which are not considered routinely in the dental curriculum, and consequently the Society has served as a medium for the acquisition of knowledge beyond the formal educational process at the School.

Keys are awarded to the Junior members and certificates to the Senior members each Spring at the dinner-dance. The keys are worn proudly as symbols of leadership in our School and in our Profession.

THE INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council is an organization composed of two representatives of each of the four fraternities. The Council governs the activities of the fraternities, particularly in regard to rushing and pledging. The presidency is a rotating office, and the fraternity of the president serves as host at the annual interfraternity function sponsored by the Council.

The present Council operates under constitution originated in 1924, which was revised in 1944.

The year at Psi Omega Fraternity was an active one, as those in the past have been. In one respect, though, the Fraternity made considerable progress, for the chapter house came closer to being a completely furnished one. The pine-panelling in the downstairs recreation room and the contributions by the Ladies of Psi Omega gave its members much to be proud of, as they prepared for a new school year.

SIGMA EPSILON DELTA FRATERNITY

Sigma Epsilon Delta Fraternity was founded at the New York College of Dentistry in 1901. Epsilon Chapter was founded at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery on February 22, 1926. After a brief period of inactivation, the chapter has once more risen to a prominent place in inter-fraternity and school activities.

We are proud of our high reputation, for the past year has seen our fraternity successful in its social, athletic and scholastic activities. Outstanding in our memory are the clinics that were held at intervals during the year to broaden our knowledge of dentistry. But we also recall the many house parties, the dances, and smokers that made the past year such an enjoyable one.

RESERVE OFFICERS TRAINING CORPS

The Reserve Officers Training Corps program was established at the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery in September of 1948, its purpose being to prepare dental students for service with the United States armed forces. The group activated as a unit of the 7010th ASU-ROTC of the University of Maryland, College Park, Maryland.

The program consisted of classroom sessions of one hour training per week for thirty-two weeks, plus six weeks' summer encampment at army base hospitals. The classroom work included lectures by the unit commander and his staff. Such subjects as military preventive medicine, dental equipment and supplies, army regulations, military dental research, military psychiatry, and military oral surgery formed the course of lectures. The purpose of summer camp was to provide additional training which could not be furnished by classroom lectures, and to familiarize the student with the methods of dentistry employed by the army.The cadets were indoctrinated with the belief that in the army one is an officer first and a dentist second.

Due to the curtailment of funds allotted the ROTC, Dental Military Science I, II and III were discontinued for the 1953-1954 school year. Students enrolled in DMS IV were permitted to complete the program and receive their commissions.

Acknowledgment

As each page of this book was completed, one objective was kept constantly in mind—to give the graduating class a yearbook which could always serve as a sort of contact with four years spent in the Dental School. Quite naturally, it would have been an impossible task had it not been for the cooperation of a great number of students in each of the four classes. Also, the intelligent assistance given by Mr. Segal, Mr. Love and Mr. Penny was always appreciated and always necessary. Their services have for many years been a part of the Dental School annuals.

In addition, the contributions of Mr. Foley should be noted, for this represents the eighteenth year that he has given his time to the publication. They are perhaps contributions that are very much taken for granted each year as editors and business managers start their work. Actually, only a very few are aware of the many hours that he has given to the preparation of this book. We want to express our gratitude at this time, with the hope that those who help with yearbooks in future years will enjoy their association with him as much as we have.

Research Explains Caries-Control Action of

Amm-i-dent

Urea—provided in high concentration by the high-urea ammoniated dentifrice formula—penetrates deeply into the enamel ... diffuses back to the surface gradually.[8] Here (under the plaque) it hydrolyzes to ammonia ... keeps the pH alkaline for hours[4,7] ... resists the acidifying effect of sugar hydrolysis.[6,7] The high-urea ammoniated dentifrice formula also inhibits growth of acid-producing and other potentially cariogenic bacteria.[3]

Long-range clinical studies, as summarized below, demonstrate the cariostatic effectiveness of Amm-i-dent under actual conditions of use.

DURATION OF STUDY	NUMBER OF PATIENTS			CARIES RATE		% REDUCTION OF CARIES INCIDENCE BY USING AMM-I-DENT

Convenience and Comfort

FOR YOU AND YOUR PATIENT
HAVE ALWAYS BEEN IMPORTANT
WITH US

This is why, after 110 years, we are still pioneering, still searching, still devising, still improving, to promote better aids for dentistry. Perhaps you are aware of this.

There is a dramatic story, for example, much too long, for this page, in the evolution of S. S. White Equipment for convenience and comfort in the dental operating room. It stems from "headrest that can be adapted to any kind of chair, well suited to the traveling dentist," made by Dr. Samuel S. White in 1844, through the first self-cleansing cuspidor made in '66, the first electric engine in '70, first all-metal chair in '71, first chair to introduce the compensating seat and backrest in '72, the first hydraulic chair in '77, the first chair to give horizontal position in '99, the first equipment unit in 1913. The list of "firsts" is long, impressive, touches almost every phase of dentistry.

In 1938 the S. S. White Master Unit brought modern styling into the operating room. In 1950, a new triumph in dentistry's conquest over pain came with the introduction of the S. S. White "Airdent" Unit for cavity preparation by the "Air-brasive Technique".

This we hope you will remember always—we and all distributors of S. S. White products have a constant concern for you and your patients and strive always to provide superlative service in all we do and make for you. Proof of this will be evidenced in our free office planning service and convenient financing terms. Test us. Ask any distributor of S. S. White Equipment or write direct.

"YORICK"
Skull is 3½" x 2¼"

With this Miniature Skull You Can SHOW Patients What You're Talking About

TRYING to explain to patients why "permanent" dentures should be remade periodically to preserve normal occlusion and condylar relations, takes some talking. With "Yorick" you can show them. You can also show —

- How tissue changes cause loose dentures.
- How abnormal condylar relations cause auditory troubles and facial neuralgia.
- How bite raising can relieve such conditions; restore normal appearance.
- How cusp interference causes unbalanced occlusion.

Whereas patients recoil at such demonstration on a human skull, they're intrigued with "Yorick." Yet this little half-sized skull in "Ivorine" is a replica of a human skull, with cranial sutures, nerve foramina, full dentition and a movable mandible.

PRICE — $15.00

design and dentistry

Nature, in her most perfect form of design, achieves an admired symmetry, a harmony of components with their whole, and a resulting natural beauty which, though often imitated, is rarely equalled, but never surpassed.

Trubyte Bioform Teeth follow Nature's own principles of design. The forms of Trubyte Bioform Teeth are the result of careful and prolonged study of thousands of extracted natural teeth, hundreds of skulls with good dentition and hundreds of patients. They are truly representative of the appearance of beautiful natural teeth. Each form has been carefully selected for its size and proportions, approximate outline form and pleasing labial characteristics. Labial markings vary in type from one form to another. No two forms in any classification are identical even in outline. No pattern has been followed beyond that provided by Nature.

Trubyte Bioform Teeth are in harmony with all three dimensions of the face—outline form, profile and cheek planes. They form the basis for a system of tooth selection which assures an esthetic result never before attainable. They enable every dentist to attain a new degree of excellence in his prosthetic work.
